THE DAILY NEWS.

WEDNESDAY.....MAY 6, 1874.
JORDAN STONE, Managing Editor.
ELECTION AUGUST 6th, 1874.
SUB-EDITORS
L. STEPHEN D. POOL, OF CRAVEN.

The DAILY NEWS is now the only paper in Raleigh that gives every morning the latest markets and other telegraphic reports. The public should note this fact.

The Sixth Judicial District. The members of the Democratic Executive Committee for the Sixth Judicial District are requested to meet at Raleigh on Tuesday, the 2d day of June, 1874. C. M. Cook, Chmn.

"RESOLVED, That we earnestly recommend to the members of the Democratic-Conservative party to discourage independent candidates and all other disorganizers, and that all support be promptly withdrawn from every aspirant for office who shall oppose the regular nominees of our conventions."—Resolution adopted by Democratic-Conservative State Executive Committee.

Fifth Congressional District. The Executive Committee for this District will meet in Greensboro, N.C., on Saturday the 9th of May, for the transaction of important business.

County Executive Committees are requested to take immediate steps for the thorough organization of townships and for holding county Conventions preparatory for the District Convention. The time and place for the latter will be designated at an early day.

D. W. COOKS, Chmn. Ex. Com. May 1st, 1874.

DURING the past week there has been a report in circulation that the Secretarieship of the Treasury has been offered to JOSEPH PATTERSON, of Philadelphia, and by him declined.

The Richmond Dispatch thinks that the English holders of Virginia bonds have good reason to be out of temper in regard to the manner in which their claims have been treated, and says that the adjournment of the Legislature without doing much to meet the public obligations will not tend to conciliate them.

In 1872 the value of commodities moved by railroads is estimated at over ten millions of dollars, and the gross receipts of railroads in moving the same reached four hundred and seventy-three millions of dollars. Senator WINDOM, of Minnesota, in his recent speech before the United States Senate, on the cheap transportation question, made the above startling statement.

The Japanese government has fitted out a naval expedition for the purpose of extending the jurisdiction of the Mikado over the non-Chinese portions of the island of Formosa. It is said that the naval, military political and general details of this movement are all in American hands, and even in its inception our late minister at Tokyo, Mr. DE LONG, was consulted. It is further stated that our State Department does not approve of the part which was taken by Minister De Long in the matter.

In a recent speech in the United States Senate on the civil rights bill, Mr. Norwood, of Georgia, made use of the following striking and effective language:

"Nine years ago, 4,000,000 slaves were freed. The next year they were invested with civil rights. The third year they were given the ballot, and the fourth year made rulers of men. Within that brief space of time the negroes were made professors of Republican doctrines, and set up as rulers. History furnished no such parallel. Of the 600,000 Israelites who went out from Egypt, but two were found competent to be rulers in 40 years, though they were instructed by signs from the great Creator of the Universe. The Republican party had made 600,000 rulers in 40 minutes, without any assistance. The man and brother was taken off the cornfield and made a Republican statesman by one of Congress."

But what appeals to reason can avail with Radicalism?

THERE seems to be a great lack of harmony all around in the Radical household. They have split on a good many things besides the matter of the inflation of the currency. The two leading papers of the Administration are at logger-heads, and the editors thereof are indulging in spicy personalities. MURTAGH, of the Washington National Republican, and JENNINGS, of the New York Times, are fiercely assailing each other. The former expresses his contempt of the Times man by calling him an "unnaturalized Englishman," and broadly intimating that he is a "stupid fool." JENNINGS plausibly replies that the Republican man is a "rascal," and asserts that certain transactions with creditors won't bear a very deep investigation, as he has wiped out his private indebtedness to certain parties at the expense of the public. The above is only a hurried sketch of the nature of the controversy now going on between these two specimens of Republican journalists. There is no doubt both are eminently correct in their estimation of each other's honesty and principle, and when they go about ventilating each other's black record they engage in the only valuable work they ever rendered the country, and deal in an article with which they have heretofore had little acquaintance—the truth.

The Baltimore American, a staunch Republican paper, thinks that the investigation into the affairs of the District of Columbia, at Washington, will result in the abolition of the present form of government there. It says that the amount of fraud and corruption shown to exist there has no equal outside of the Tweed government of New York city.

THE Conservatives and Democrats of Duplin county held a large and enthusiastic convention in Kenansville, on last Saturday. It was presided over by ISAAC B. KELLY, Esq., and W. B. WELLS acted as Secretary. The resolutions adopted recommended the nomination of Col. W. A. ALLEN, who so ably at the recent session of the General Assembly represented that county and district in the Senate, as Judge, and heartily ratified the nomination of Colonel S. D. POOL as Superintendent of Public Instruction. A large list of delegates were appointed to attend the Judicial and Congressional nominating conventions. The utmost good feeling and harmony prevailed, and there is every indication that gallant Duplin will in August be true to her reputation as one of the banner Democratic counties of the State. Her sons are true and falter not in the path of duty. If some of the spirit of the people of Duplin could be infused into many of the other counties, North Carolina would soon be freed from the last vestige of Radicalism, and a return made to an honest and economical administration of the State government.

WHO are the Republican leaders to-day? The very men who acted with and got into office the ring Legislature of 1868-'69. It won't clear their skirts of the just responsibility for the thievery of that body that they denounce it to-day. But for them it would never have occurred. When it began, and became patent, who of them raised their voices in condemnation of its acts? None! Did the then Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate, T. R. CALDWELL? No! What was the course of the present Lieutenant Governor, then Senator from Wayne? He aided and abetted! Hand in hand, cheek by jowl, he went with them, this bright and shining "child of the skies!"

The Republican party prates about the State debt. They made it. They vociferously call out for its settlement. Their plunderings have made it well nigh impossible to do so. They endeavor to make political capital out of the affairs of the Western North Carolina Railroad. Who bankrupted that corporation? Republican rings, the offshoots of the Legislature of 1868-'69, headed by MILTON S. LITTLEFIELD, the man who directed Republican legislation and controlled the Executive Department even after his nefarious mission to this State had been fully exposed. The road is too poor now to do anything but pay Mr. Hon. Receiver W. A. SMITH $9,000 per annum. In point of fact the complaint of the Republican party, divested of its specious and false reasoning, and stripped of unmeaning rhetoric, is that the Conservative-Democratic party has found the wounds that Republican villainy inflicted upon the State too many and deep to be cured speedily.

THE good people of Raleigh have good reason to congratulate themselves at the result of the municipal election on Monday, although full victory did not reward their efforts. The overwhelming Radical majority of last year is cut down over one-half, besides gaining four of the nine Commissioners. Mr. PESQUET, the Conservative-Democratic and Reform candidate for the Mayoralty, though only brought out on Saturday, made a most gallant run in the face of a large and assured Republican majority, and richly deserves the thanks of all good citizens for his noble effort in their behalf. It is thought by those who are in a position to know of such things, that by a proper concert of action and a unity of purpose we could have secured the full ticket of Commissioners from Eastern Ward, instead of one as it is, thus obtaining full control of city affairs by having a majority on the Board of City Commissioners. But it is idle now to talk of what might have been. It is the part of wisdom to calmly accept the results, and apply to the best possible use the advantages which have accrued to us.

The dry men succeeded in carrying prohibition by a majority of little over one hundred, and soon red, blue and variegated lights will illuminate our streets no more. In other and plainer words, bar-rooms have been voted down, and the thirsty will have to be content with malt beverages or buy it by the wholesale.

Again we congratulate the Democrats and Conservatives of the city upon the large gains they have made upon Radicalism, as it is a sure harbinger of that complete victory which will crown us in the election in the county on the first Thursday in August, and on the first Monday in May, 1875, when the fight will be again picked and another shot tried.

In the above no reference has been made to actual figures, because a full report of the election appeared in our local columns in the issue of yesterday, and it is taken for granted that the reader is acquainted with them.

The story that Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe would not write any more for some years, on account of ill-health, is true, with a few trifling exceptions. Mrs. Stowe is in excellent health, and is writing a new serial story.

KNOWING Republicans about here say that there is not the slightest doubt about Col. I. J. YOUNG getting the Republican nomination for Congress in this district. BILLY [SMITH] the Great, had openly pronounced in his favor and swears mighty oaths that he shall have it, and everybody knows that BILLY is all-powerful in the Radical camp. Major General WILLIE D. JONES, of the KIRK-HOLM Court Martial notoriety, may make some feeble effort in his own behalf, but it will amount to nothing. TIM LEE, our "faithful" Sheriff, has been squinting towards the nomination, but seeing no earthly prospect of success has quietly stepped off the track. Mr. HEADEN, of Chat-maw, was spoken of, but of course as he is outside of the Raleigh ring he might as well subside without making a fuss, as he will certainly be made to do. It may be put down as very certain that Mr. YOUNG will be the Republican nominee for Congress in this district. It will not be inappropriate to mention in this connection that Mr. T. M. ARGO, reporter, becoming alarmed at the rapid strides Mr. LOGAN HARRIS is making towards the nomination for the solicitorship, is now thinking about throwing up the sponge as far as that office is concerned and going for the nomination to the Senate from this county. Poor T. M., the glittering promises held out to you have vanished unfulfilled into thin air, and the price of your apostasy has not yet been paid, and from present indications never will be in anything anybody else wants.

It transpires that Mark Twain was a soldier, having served two weeks with Jeff Thompson in the rebel army in Missouri. That he never made much of a military record is explained in a letter which he has just written to Thompson. He says: "We never won any victories to speak of. We never could get the enemy to stay still when we wanted to fight, and we were generally on the move when the enemy wanted to fight."

Mrs. Van Cott says that at one of her prayer-meetings a negro brother prayed: "Oh, Lord! send my angel to pin de wings on Sister Bane's heels, dat she may fly thro de world preachin' de everlasting Gospel." And one added: "Lord! give wings on her shoulders, too, or the preaching will not have effect; for she'll fly upside down."

COULD NOT UNDERSTAND IT.—A very matter-of-fact gentleman, who belongs to the office of the register of wills, was much interested in the account some one was giving of the recent suicide on Charles street. "Cut thy throat, didst thou?" asked the man. "Had he a wife? why, what could have induced him to commit suicide?"—Baltimore American.

Probably the most extraordinary law suit provoked by the recent temperament of the people of New Albany, Ind., for $20,000 damages for false imprisonment. The plaintiff was arrested and imprisoned by the city authorities for not taking off his hat while a band of women were praying on the sidewalk before a saloon.

THE FLOOD IN THE MISSISSIPPI.

The Great Destruction of Property and the Suffering of the Citizens.

The Memphis Appeal of the 29th ult. has the following interesting details of the damage sustained by the flood in the upper Mississippi:

A REFUGEE INTERVIEWED.

Refugees from the overflowed country south of this continue to arrive daily, and give accounts of the pitiable condition of the unfortunate people there. Owing to the isolation of the country along the Mississippi and other rivers, the true condition of the inhabitants is not known to the public. Many homes in the bottoms, far from railroads and telegraph stations, have been deserted, while hundreds of people are left without food, clothing or shelter. In many places the water extends for miles in every direction, cutting off all communication with the upland country, and compelling the inhabitants to half-mountainous homes and half-submerged dwellings. No provisions are to be had, for there are none to purchase. The public cannot be too generous in its charity toward these people. Only yesterday a lady named with her child, arrived in this city, from her deluged home in Mississippi, sixty or seventy miles below here. Her story is a sad one, and around the sympathies of all who hear it. The high water broke through the levee, and soon flooded the country for miles around. The unexpected rise forced her family into the second story of the dwelling, and did not allow any time for drying in provisions or removing the stock. Two days ago a passing steamer was signaled, and, rounding to, approached as near to the half-floating house as the timber would permit. Mr. Walker took his wife and child in his arms, and after wading knee deep through the water for over a hundred yards to a little knoll of ground reached the steamer. The boat showed off after receiving Mrs. Walker and her child. The husband, after waving adieu to his wife, returned to take care of the three remaining children. Mrs. Walker came to Memphis for the purpose of buying food and

MRS. WALKER,

SEEKING AID FOR HER HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

Unfortunately the little sum of money she had was stolen on the boat, and although vigorous search was made, it was not found, and she left the boat without a dollar in her pocket. When she left home there were only three days provisions for her impoverished husband and helpless children. This was true of every family in the neighborhood. There are no supplies in that portion of the country, and even if there were, the people in most instances have no means of reaching them. The strong current, timber and drift, render it extremely hazardous, if not altogether impossible, to propel rafts, even where such are at hand. When Mrs. Walker left the water was so high in her house that the children were sleeping on shelves and the cooking stove was located on the dining-table. The fowls had to roost on the roof of the house where three or four pigs found a lodging place. Out of nine horses and mules seven had perished with hunger or were drowned.

The same state of affairs existed for miles, and in the remote bottoms countless hundreds of persons are suffering with hunger, and imprisoned in their deluged houses with no prospect of relief. The swift currents of the river, however, have cut off the outside world was effectually cut off, and the people could not reach the upland country. The story as related by Mrs. Walker, who with her child, is stopping at the Grand Central hotel, is not exaggerated, but on the contrary gives a faint conception of the true condition of helpless men, women and children actually suffering, and in too many instances starving to death. From the present stage of water no receding of the river can amount to any relief within the next ten days, the decline will be unusually fast. The whole country south of the city along the Mississippi, St. Francis, White and Arkansas rivers has merged, the plantations devastated, and the inhabitants undergoing the most fearful affliction that ever befell a people.

FROM NEW YORK.

A Special From Little Rock—More Outrages—State Officers Arrested.

NEW YORK, May 5.—A Little Rock special says: After the arrest of Judges Bennett and Seale by the Baxterites they were taken across the river in a skiff and sent to St. John's College, at the outskirts of the city. They spent the night there, and yesterday morning were put on horses and in charge of a band of cavalry and were taken into the country, will probably be kept in the woods. On the heels of this event, at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, State Auditor Wheeler was awakened by a knocking at the door of his residence. He jumped out of bed and went down stairs where he saw a huck at the door. The driver said that General McCamay wanted to see him. Wheeler, not thinking it capture, said: "Ask him to come in." McCamay answered back for him to come out. He went out and some men, who had been stationed with guns on the other three sides of the house, rushed up and put him by force into the carriage. He was driven down to the Anthony House. There they took him to Baxter's room, woke Baxter up and McCamay said: "I beg pardon for acting without orders, but I thought it my duty to capture Wheeler, bring him to you and make him acknowledge you as Governor, and while the same with State Treasurer Page and Brooks. You say 'no'." Baxter gave orders to release him, much to McCamay's discomfiture. There is some talk of moving his government to Arikadephia, and making that his Capital.

A son of Judge Bennett received a letter last evening from his father, saying: "I suppose you know Judge Searle and I were captured at Argena last night. We are well treated and in no bodily danger. Don't know when we will be released." The letter was received through General Blocher of Baxter's forces. Baxter has again practically seized the telegraph office. There are guards posted about one hundred yards away, and they allow no one to enter.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS—DISCUSSION ON THE MISSISSIPPI RELIEF BILL.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Cabinet discussed Arkansas affairs without action.

The House Committee discussed the mouth of the Mississippi matter without action. It comes up next meeting.

NOMINATION.—Henry A. Thomas, Collector of Customs, Pamlico, N. C.

SEASIDE.—The bill regulating Customs collections, regulating fines and penalties and abolishing militias was placed on the calendar.

Mr. Morrill, of Maine, from the Committee on Appropriations reported a bill for the relief of the sufferers by the overflow of the Mississippi, increasing the appropriation from $90,000 to $150,000.

Mr. Edmunds moved an amendment that the provisions of the bill shall not apply later than September 1st, 1874.

Mr. Pease said that great destruction existed in Mississippi and the authority of the Government was unable to afford the necessary relief.

Mr. Edmunds said that in affording relief under this bill care should be taken for the proper and judicious distribution of the food and clothing.

He alluded to the telegram in the morning papers that the negroes around Memphis were now refusing to work, alleging that the government intended to feed and clothe them. The difficulty to be apprehended was that the labor of that whole country might become demoralized. If he had a thousand negroes on his plantation, and he did not have the government to feed them, he would feel that him self, and when he had more for them, they would all leave him. He said that the levees of the Mississippi should have been in a condition to resist the rising of the river. The people of the States of Louisiana and Mississippi had been taxed largely to construct levees, and if the money had been properly expended it would have accomplished the object desired. Five millions, if honestly and properly expended, would have been sufficient to protect the State of Mississippi from the overflow. The trouble was that the money was squandered by irresponsible and reckless parties. Several of the counties of Mississippi, including the county in which he lived, had been taxed for legal purposes so much on every pound of cotton raised that when it was sold for cotton quiet and unchanged sugar-cane at 75¢ per bushel.
